Council halts plans to cut education funding

DORSET County Council (DCC) has said it will consult and engage with schools on possible special educational needs and disabilities (SEND) funding cuts, following calls for the authority to halt proposals.

The local authority is responsible for funding to support SEND students through tipping funding, which is given to schools with a higher than average portion of SEND students, and top up funding, to support students with Education and Health Care Plans (EHCP) who require 30 hours of support.

It was previously suggested to discontinue tipping funding and reduce the top up funding from £10.97 an hour to £5.

come into effect from April 1st, would have put local schools at risk of job losses

DCC reported that the cuts were due to a rise in cost and demographic pressures and a lack of increase in the Dedicated Schools Grant from government, which is money to fund the schools they manage.

County councillor Ros Kayes, from Bridport, challenged the proposals and called on the county council to suspend any decision on implementing these changes until they had been scrutinised by coun-

She said: "For a school like St Mary's in Bridport, which specialises in children with high needs, this will mean the loss of 11 of their 16 teaching assistants and cuts of up to £7,000 each in the case of some children, resulting in an overall budget cut of £83,000.

That is a tenth of their entire budget - a school cannot easily survive such cuts.

"For smaller schools like Burton Bradstock, who deploy their funding differently, I am told the impact might be losing a teacher and possibly having to double up on

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS 24 hour helpline

BUSINESS partners Sophie Annett and Heather Godfrey recently launched The Cabin at Fernhill Hotel, between Lyme Regis and Charmouth, offering holistic treatments to both guests and the wider community.

The pair joined forces after moving to Lyme within a month of each other discovering they shared interests. Both fully trained therapists and qualified teachers in their own right, they recognised the benefit of creating a mutualistic business relationship that enables them to support each other, the hotel, potential clients and other therapists too

Sophie grew up near Crewkerne and lived in Bristol and France before moving to Lyme with her husband and baby son. Heather's family also originate from the local area but, with her father serving in the RAF, she moved around the country a lot as a child. She moved to Lyme last year with her family now grown up and is grandmother to 12.

HOW did you first become interested in holistic therapy? Sophie: I can remember as a little girl always wanting to give my mum massages and finding knots in her back so I suppose since then! It has been something I have always had a huge interest in. I visited a craniosacral therapist a few times starting when I was around 10 or 11 and she had a huge impact on me. I couldn't believe how it could appear she was hardly even moving her hands on me but it had such a deeply relaxing and powerful effect. I still use some of the movements she taught me in my treatments today.

Heather: I became interested in complementary medicine in the early 70s and was introduced to the concepts and philosophies of many complementary and alternative practices; acupuncture, homeopathy, osteopathy, herbalism, Ayurveda and Aromatherapy. Aromatherapy attracted me the most. The odorous, sensual, qualities of essential oils stirred something with in me and I became increasingly fascinated by their psycho-emotional qualities and the influence these qualities have on mood, emotion, memory, and also their physiological qualities, especially immuno-

TELL us a little about your career history...

Sophie: My first job was temping as a therapist in a boutique spa hotel in Surrey. Although it was a massage-factory-like environment, it was my first job doing something I was beyond passionate about and I absolutely loved it. The hotel offered me a permanent position and with that came lots of in-house training and experience before I left to move to Brighton. Here I discovered Uniquely Organic Eco Spa - a beautiful, holistic sanctuary that perfectly fitted with my ethos and what I wanted to be able to offer my clients. The four years I spent there enabled me to grow both spiritually and in terms of what I could offer as a therapist. I trained with the IAIM around this time too, to become an infant massage instructor and ran busy classes from the same space. I left when we moved away to France and took time off to be with my baby. It wasn't until we settled in our new home in Lyme Regis that I was ready to throw my heart and soul back into doing what I love. I have since completed my training to become a hypnobirthing instructor and am building up a following with my massage again.

Heather: I worked for Robert Tisserand when he first began to develop his business in the 70s. My fascination kindled, I later completed a BSc Joint Honours Degree in counselling and complementary medicine, then Masters certificates in supervision of counselling, and mindfulness, and a PGCE. I ran a private practice for a number of years and also taught within my local community for local FE colleges, and lectured at the University of Salford. My books, which explore the historical context and therapeutic application of essential oils, are pending publication - very exciting!

WHY did you choose Fernhill Hotel to offer your treatments from?

Sophie: I started working as a freelance therapist for Fernhill Hotel when we first moved here and I always loved the 'cabin' space there. I have worked from so many different locations and some just feel special and as if they were made to accompany your practice. I felt it had a huge potential to be a great healing place and somewhere you could escape into and completely Heather: I relocated to Lyme Regis last year. Serendipitously, Sophie moved here a month later, just two doors along the lane from me! We discovered we shared similar interests and passions; both experienced therapists in our own right, both starting a new page, a new chapter, in a new and exciting location.

HOW would you described The Cabin?

The Cabin is a purpose-built venue nestled in the grounds of Fernhill Hotel. The location and ambiance perfectly compliments the nature of our work, and offers a valuable 'retreat', a moment's peace, away from the hustle and bustle. The Cabin was originally created to enable hotel guests access to the experience of receiving relaxing complementary therapy treatments. Teaming up with Jo, the hotel proprietor, Sophie and I realised the win-win potential of extending this service to the wider community too.

WHAT treatments do you offer?

Collectively our treatments range from aromatherapy massage, hot stone and deep tissue massage, to reflexology. Our training and CPD courses and workshops include hypno-birthing, baby massage, aroma wellness 'caring for carers', essential oils for meditation and stress reduction, essential oil blending, and will include professional aromatherapy practitioner training from October 2017.

WHAT do you enjoy about the job?

Sophie: I find it hard to even call it a job! I don't think many jobs could come close to the level of satisfaction that I get from doing what I do. It does so much on so many levels. I suppose the biggest enjoyments that stand out for me are, firstly, that the result is so often so visible. People walk in with all sorts of stresses, strains, aches and pains and when they leave, their whole posture and energy is completely different. It is such a privilege to be able to give that to someone and know that you've made a difference, however small. I love that it allows me to work on a very deep level with people and I feel extremely privileged that I can occupy that space with someone. It nourishes the need for human connection that I think can so easily be lacking

Heather: I enjoy creating space for my clients to completely relax and find a moment's peace. I love working with essential oils; the colours of their odours create ambiance and influence mood and emotion, they rejuvenate and refresh. They are also powerful healing agents. I love extending to clients realisation of the unselfish benefit of taking a moment to care for and nurture their essential being

Improvements made at academy, but there's work to do say Ofsted

Beaminster has been rated as "requires improvement" following their most recent Ofsted inspection.

This is an improvement from the school's last Ofsted inspection in 2013, which put the school into special measures and led to St Mary's converting to an academy under the Diocese of Salisbury Academy Trust (DSAT).

The inspectors recognised the school's "significant improvement' since converting to an academy.

The school was inspected in January and received "requires improvement" for: effectiveness of leadership and management; quality of teaching, learning and assessment; personal development, behaviour and welfare and outcomes for pupils, but "good" for early years provision.

Inspectors found that "leaders, including governors, have been too generous in their evaluations of pupils' outcomes and the quality of teaching" and as a result there are still "inconsistencies in teaching and learning, which slows pupils' progress".

However, they did recognise that "current rates of progress are accelerating" and that there have been "significant improvements in teaching and learning over

The report stated that governors "do not hold school leaders strongly enough to account in ernors' questions do not lead to fast enough improvements in teaching and learning"

However, teaching in the early years is effective and inspectors reported that "children get a good start to their education and are well prepared for their next stage in learning" and "pupils" outcomes in the year one phonics checks are rapidly improving".

Inspectors found that "there are still too many weaknesses in the teaching of basic mathematical and writing skills",

"pupils across the school are not well enough supported to meet their full potential"

During the two days the inspectors were at the school, they commented on many positives, and said: "Pupils are provided with a broad and enriched curriculum promoting their social, moral, spiritual and cultural development.

They also said that "children demonstrate respect and tolerance for the views of others" and "leaders take effective eral behaviour and conduct around the school promotes a safe and secure environment for pupils"

Jessica Teasdale, chair of the local governing board, said: "Governors are working with the school to make improvement plans tighter and more precise, to secure the best outcomes for the children as the school continues to improve.

"All staff and governors, together with DSAT, are committed to ensuring all pupils achieve to their full potential." pupils Headteacher Goodinson said: "The staff, together with the governors have worked very hard to pull the school out of special measures.

"We recognise that there is still work to do and are committed to making the improvements needed.

"Since converting to an academy, the school's end of Key Stage Two standards have improved year on year and we will continue our drive to further improve outcomes

Council to consult with schools over funding cuts pupil to a band in accordance

"The really excellent work being done by schools with special needs children is under

"It galls me in particular that the county council seem to have waited until after the recent SEND Ofsted inspection [see page six] before announcing these cuts, which have not been through any of the county's scrutiny committees and were totally unexpected for many elected members.

"This is clearly an equalities issue. These are the most vulnerable children in our communities, many of these children suffer from poverty, neglect and abuse as well as educational needs

"This decision was made with minimal consultation with schools and head teachers are justifiably furious. The issue has not been discussed by any committee at DCC."

DCC will now apply the rate for top-up payments in 2015/16, which was £7.25 per hour over 52 weeks, but as they pay over 39 weeks, the rate will be £9.69 per hour and it will not stop tipping point payments before further consultation with schools

During the summer, the county council will consult with schools on introducing a banding system of payments from September in which future EHCPs would not specify hours but would ascribe the

with a new set of criteria.

A spokesperson for DCC said: "We will work together with schools to develop a medium and long-term strategy for managing the budget set by government and ring-fenced for children and young people aged

"We will look at resourcing annual reviews of EHCP so they can be carried out together. This will help us understand the different ways in which we can design services to meet the increasing need.

"We will bring the information that has informed the strategic thinking to date to the next Schools Forum to be clear about the next steps and how we will work with schools on future planning and implementation Kay Taylor, executive principal of the Minerva Learning Trust, which includes the Sir John Colfox Academy, Bridport Primary School, St Mary's Primary School and Burton Bradstock Primary School, said: "We are pleased to hear that the local authority is looking again at the funding for SEN pupils.

"There are still significant cuts coming for schools and it is still unclear how funding will be allocated in September as they move to a new system, but at least schools have some time to prepare for this and there is time for further consultation."

West Bay play area stalwart dies

AN instrumental figure in the building of an allinclusive play area in West Bay has died.

Tess Hawley joined the West Bay play area steering group in 2014 following an appeal for the involvement of parents of children with severe disabilities to help develop an inclusive Play Area for all abilities.

The West Bay play area steering group said her contribution throughout brought an insight that would have otherwise been lacking.

A spokesperson for the steering group said: "Faced with the challenge of raising a budget in excess of £90,000, it was Tess who was instrumental in achieving the first £260 with the help of local care workers involved with her son,

TESS Hawley and her son Stuart

"Not one to dwell on her own needs, however demanding, Tess was able to appreciate the bigger picture, and at the time stated at one of the many planning meetings she attended 'I do feel that wheelchair access will help not only the young people like Stu with disabilities, but also the elderly carers like grandparents with sticks taking their grandchildren out on a Sunday, as well as parents trying to navigate their way around with buggies.' So it has proved.

"The West Bay play area has been an outstanding success, and will be a lasting tribute to Tess Hawley as much as to anyone involved. The steering group deeply regrets the loss of a caring and loving person."

In support of St Michael's development

AS a former district and town councillor and ward member, I fully support the plans of Haywards to in part develop St Michael's Trading Estate and in part to refurbish other estate buildings. The present planning policy is for a mixed-use development and Haywards' plans have been prepared in accordance with that policy.

In 2012 the company was granted planning permission. However, before the district council signed the form of consent, English Heritage listed the Lilliput Building which, at the time, prevented its issue.

Assuming the matters concerning English Heritage have now been resolved, I, therefore. see no reason whatsoever why planning permission should not now be granted and the Grant of Approval issued.

St Michael's Trading Estate is badly in need of redevelopment and has been for a great number of years! This much is acknowledged by the vast majority of the townspeople, and there can be no disguising the fact.

As I see it the present plans are an improvement on the proposals of 2012 and reflect the efforts of the applicants and their architects to address the concerns previously expressed with regard to the 2012 layout.

I am, therefore, of the opinion the plans set out the best possible solution long term to satisfy the needs of the inhabitants of Bridport.

They provide a better environment for the current tenants to work while at the same time encouraging others onto the estate. There is the provision of some much needed affordable housing for those of our young people trying to get a foot on the housing ladder and, moreover, in boosting the town's economy.

DAVID TETT, Bridport

ADVEARSE thanks for donations

■ ADVEARSE would like to thank the residents of Westmead and the adjacent Lodge Lane estate for their many kind donations which will allow the organisation to publicise the concerns which many in the community share about the large scale development proposed for Vearse Farm.

It is several years since the plans were first announced and we are aware that at some point the West Dorset Planning Committee will be deciding on outline planning permission.

We see the need to remind people of the real implications for the town as a whole and to encourage to express their views to the planners. We are grateful for the extra funds which enable us to carry out this vital work.

ADVEARSE continues to support the development of a neighbourhood plan with a more sustainable development of the town with a mix of housing to meet local housing needs.

If you would like to add support and submit a donation to our cause, please either forward a payment to our bank: Co-op Bank account name; AD-VEARSE, sort code; 08-92-99, account no; 65729588 or by cheque payable to: AD-VEARSE and then post to AD-VEARSE, 3, Watton View, Bridport, Dorset, DT6 5QZ.

West Bay dredging rescheduled

DREDGING works at West Bay have been rescheduled after became stuck in the harbour earlier this month.

Works at West Bay were due to start again on Monday, March 27th and run through April 4th and some night shift work may be required.

The method of West Bay's dredging works has been adjusted slightly following delays.

Works were previously scheduled to begin on March 11th and last for eight days, with no night shift work required.

Works will still be carried out using a large hydraulic pump with large pipes from the pumping running alongside and over the main pier, replenishing West Beach.

This takes away the need to close the esplanade for dump truck usage and the main pier will remain open to the public, but West Beach will be closed.

Councillor Russell, West Dorset District Council's executive portfolio holder for environmental protection and assets, said: "We apologise for any inconvenience caused during the previous dredge.

"These works are essential for maintaining the day-to-day running of both harbours and ensures our beaches are fully replenished for residents and visitors to enjoy in the warmer months."

Thanks from local Rotary Clubs after collection for East Africa

■ ON behalf of the Rotary Clubs in Bridport, may we say a huge thank you to all those shoppers and others who gave to the East Africa Food Crisis collection last Saturday when a total of £697 was donated.

Following the generosity of British people the day before in giving to Comic Relief, this was a great achievement

Once again the people of Bridport showed their kindness and humanity in giving to support others far less fortunate than ourselves. Thank you.

We will make sure that all this money is forwarded to the Disasters Emergency Committee appeal as soon as possible.

It is a pleasure and a privilege to serve the town and support such a good cause in this way.

Give your first new £1 coin to Weldmar

WELDMAR Hospicecare is asking residents to donate their first new £1 coin.

The new UK £1 coin entered circulation on Tuesday, March 28th and Weldmar is asking for help in funding their care by donations of people's first new £1 coin by putting it in a special collection pot in one of their 26 charity shops across Dorset – including Bridport and Beaminster.

Caroline Hamblett, chief executive of Weldmar Hospicecare, said: "From Tuesday, March 28th, a new 12-sided £1 coin comes into circulation – and Weldmar is running a special campaign in each of our charity shops, asking you to donate your first one."

Weldmar Hospicecare cares for patients with cancer and other progressive conditions, such as motor neurone disease, who require specialist end of life care.

Patients in north, south and west Dorset have a seamless service, whether they require care and advice in the comfort of their own homes, in Weldmar's day centres or the inpatient unit at Joseph Weld Hospice in Dorchester.

Caroline added: "Each £1 really does count for Veldmar

"Every new £1 coin put into the special collection pods in our charity shops will help us to ensure that our nurses and healthcare professionals are there to support our patients wherever they are needed.

"Weldmar needs to raise £10 every minute of every day to provide our care.

"Your £1 really will make a difference."

Bridport's first-ever Green Fortnight

BRIDPORT'S first ever Green Fortnight has launched and aims to inspire local people to live a more sustainable lifestyle and celebrate what the town does well.

Transition Town Bridport are heading the event and will be working with other groups, businesses and individuals in the town to promote a greener and more sustainable local economy. Sarah West. of Transition Town Bridport. said: "Bridport is lucky to have a high street full of local businesses – so one of our key messages is 'buy local first'.

"Local businesses have a lot to offer in terms of excellent products and customer service.

"If we all shift a little more of our spending towards them this will create far greater benefit for the local economy than money spent in chain stores or on the internet. Spending £10 on local food boosts Bridport's economy by £17.60. "By reusing and recycling wherever possible we

Many of Bridport's shops will be featuring local goods, energy efficient and environmentally friendly products in their displays, and labelling local goods with 'Buy Local Bridport' labels.

Some local cafes will be creating special dishes using local ingredients.

Local chef and campaigner Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall is backing Bridport's Green Fortnight.

He said: "Bridport is a vibrant town with a track record of running great events. I am sure the Green Fortnight will continue this tradition.

"It is a great opportunity to showcase what Bridport does well and to celebrate the independent spirit and local enterprises that make it a dynamic, forward-thinking place."

Mr Fearnley-Whittingstall is known for his commitment to local, seasonal ingredients and is delighted that the Green Fortnight includes a buy local campaign. He added: "The provenance of food – where it

He added: "The provenance of food – where it comes from and how it is produced – is so important.

"If we support small producers who are doing things well, we get better food, with far fewer food miles attached – and of course the local economy benefits too."

Sarah West added: "We have a Facebook page and we urge people to visit this during the fortnight to post photos and tell us what has inspired them."

The fortnight started on Friday, March 24th and runs until Saturday, April 8th

Bridport Town Council is supporting the town's first Green Fortnight and has turned the town hall clock green for the event.

The town council is also being recommended to reaffirm its commitment to its climate change strategy and bring forward proposals for further initiatives and actions, including proposals to update the strategy.

The recommendation is from the council's environment and social wellbeing committee, which recently received a report of some of the town council's actions following the adoption of the strategy.

These include:

■ Installation of solar panels at the town council's Plottingham depot, the cemetery workshop and at Mountfield. The panels at Plottingham were installed five years ago and through generating its own electricity in this way and with the feed in tariff, the town council has recovered all the installation costs.

■ Installation of a solar hot water system at the town council offices at Mountfield.

■ Increased recycling materials at all buildings and sites managed by the town council.

The town council has also supported a large number of projects to help 'green' the town, including increasing cycle routes, enabling more community management of green spaces and providing more allotments.

Councillor Sarah Williams, leader of the council, said: "It is pleasing that we are supporting the Green Fortnight.

"The town council has delivered a number of projects as part of its climate change strategy but it is timely that we review the strategy and, through the council's town plan, look at other projects and initiatives that we can bring forward."

County's special needs support is set to improve following inspection

DORSET County Council has vowed to work with its partners to improve support for children and young people in Dorset who have special educational needs and disabilities (SEND) following an inspection.

Ofsted and the Care Ouality

Commission (CQC) carried out an area inspection in January of work with children and young people with additional needs in the county council area.

This included services provided by the county council and other agencies, such as the NHS and special schools.

The inspectors found that "frequent changes in senior leaders have reduced the local area's capacity to implement the disability and special educational needs reforms effectively" and that "leaders arrangements to check the quality and impact of their work in the local area are inconsistent".

However, the report stated that: "The inspection team recognises the strong commitment of leaders and staff to improve the local area's work to safeguard children and young people" and "The local area provides high-quality residential provision for children and young people with complex needs".

It was found that "completing assessments for education, health and care plans on time and in partnership with appropriate agencies is weak" but that health, education and social care professionals "work together effectively to quickly identify the needs of the youngest children".

Inspectors reported that leaders' arrangements to check the quality and impact of their work in the local area are "inconsistent", but that "the local area's focus on improving the life chances if children who are looked after is effective".

Sara Tough, Dorset County Council's director of children's services, said: "We take these findings very seriously and are committed to working with our partners, parents and carers to improve services and outcomes for children and young people with additional needs.

"We need to continue to make progress in improving how quickly we complete plans and get better at working together with our other agencies to meet children's needs.

"The inspection team told us they believed that we have a clear understanding of what needs to be done and that our plans are having an impact." The inspectors also interviewed parents and carers of children with SEND, who said they would like to be more involved and for the agencies to share more about the work they are doing with them.

The council is inviting parents to local meetings where they can talk about their experiences of SEND services.

Cllr Deborah Croney, the council's cabinet member for learning, skills and children's safeguarding, said: "We know we have some work to do to make the experiences of all our children and young people with additional needs better. We are already making significant improvements across a number of areas.

"We want to make every child's experience a good one.

"We will be working closely with parents, carers, schools and our partners so together we can make sure all our children in Dorset reach their highest potential."

Bridport barman Lloyd launches new cocktail bar

A NEW cocktail bar has launched in Beaminster's Bridge House with a Hardy twist.

Bridport-based barman Lloyd Brown set up the Grey Bear Bar Company after five years at the award-winning Venner Bar in the Bull Hotel and now runs masterclasses and mixology training with colleagues Thomas Jukes and Victoria Brown.

This month, the Grey Bear Bar Company launched a new cocktail bar at Bridge House in Beaminster, which is the bar consultancy's first residency.

Lloyd said: "Bridge House is the perfect venue for our first residency; it is a stunning hotel with lots of history which will be reflected in the menu alongside local spirits such as Porters Perfection vodka, Furleigh Estate and Newton House gin.

"We can't wait to work with the owners Jo and Mark and create a cocktail bar for the residents of Beaminster to go alongside the fantastic eateries.

"Our first cocktail menu takes inspiration from Tess of the d'Urbervilles along with local characters from past and present."

Jo and Mark Donovan, who have been running Bridge House for more than 13 years, are excited about their new cocktail venture with Lloyd.

Jo said: "For a long time, people have been keen to eat local produce, and now they also want to drink local and Bridge House is very much about supporting regional producers.

"The cocktail menu will reflect locally made spirits and mixers, with cocktail recipes unique to the area.

"We are thrilled to be working alongside such an inspiring person; Lloyd is a well-known barman with a big following and talent for mixology.

"The Bridge cocktail bar will be a place where local people can relax and enjoy some exciting

Bus station dispute

FIRST buses will no longer be stopping in Bridport Bus Station due to a dispute with West Dorset District Council.

The bus company -which runs services X51, X52, X53 and X54 - were paying a fee to the council, which is the owner of the site in Tannery Road, to use it, but was the only operator to do so.

At a recent Western Area Transport Action Group (WATAG) meeting, Simon Newport, general manager of First Wessex, reported that First announced to the council that they would no longer pay the fee and as a result the council told them they could no longer use the

He said: "We will no longer be using the bus shelter, we will be using our temporary bus stop on the outside because I am afraid we have come to an impasse with West Dorset District Council.

"We will go into Tannery Road, through the bus station, out of the bus station and stop outside of the bus station.

"To my knowledge, no one else is changing because they are not being charged, we are the only people being charged.

"What we have uncovered is that we have been paying an amount of money for years, and years, and years, from by Lottie Welch lottie@viewnews.co.uk when we were Southern National, for sole rights to that area, but obviously certain other operators are also using it and they are not being charged.

"What we have paid is far too much, I gave notice in July and said that we wouldn't pay anymore and unfortunately the council said 'because you are stopping there, you still have to pay', so that is where we got to.

"We wont be stopping there and we will see what happens."

A bus stop has been erected outside the men's public toilets on Tannery Road for First to use (pictured).

West Dorset District Council were contacted for a comment.

Event to answer 'How can Bridport feed itself?'

LOCAL residents are being invited to find out more about how Bridport can feed itself and the town's local food producers.

On Saturday, April 8th from 6pm in the WI Hall on North Street, the team behind 'How Can Bridport Feed Itself?' will reveal headline findings of some new research into the current value of Bridport's local food

Building on the work of many local food initiatives and several years of campaigning and awareness raising under the banner of Food Future Bridport, this event will also be a celebration of the local food producers and retailers already in the town.

This research forms part of a wider community economic development process led by Dorset Community Action, in partnership with Bridport Town Council.

The report's findings suggest that £56million a year is spent with food retailers in and around Bridport, nearly 87 per cent of this is spent in the national supermarket

Linda Hull, part of the research team, said: "Put simply, £525,000 leaves our economy every week, that is more than half a million pounds a week benefiting distant shareholders elsewhere.

"The other very interesting finding is that the food sector employs 27 per cent of people in Bridport. That is twice the national average.

"Our food economy is big and booming, but how can we keep more of that cool half million pound food spend circulating locally for longer? Can we actually use our weekly food shop to invest in Bridport feeding it-

The event will start with a shared community meal and feature a series of short talks. followed by music and local cider and juice.

Ed Hamer, from the Land Workers Alliance, will talk about the significance of the local food movement in light of Brexit.

He will also share his experiences as a cofounder and grower at Chagfood Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) - a community market garden - on the edge of Dartmoor, focusing on the contribution that CSAs can make to supporting the livelihoods of small farmers and connecting customers to the people and land that produce

There will also be a 'seed plugs' session in which community food initiatives and local food businesses who are helping feed Bridport will 'plug' their work, new ideas and share and seek support for what they are

Mountjoy headteacher's 151 half-marathons

MOUNTJOY headteacher Jackie Shanks has raised more than £800 for the school and Cancer Research UK through running 151 half marathons.

In April and early May last year, Jackie ran half a marathon a day for 50 days to raise funds for the school and was overwhelmed by the support and enthusiasm she received.

Then in December, she decided to do it again, but this time would run for 100 days in aid of both Mountjoy School and Cancer Research UK. She began on December 2nd and managed to run 101 half marathons in 100 days, finishing with a full marathon on March 12th this year.

She has so far raised £860 and her total mileage was 1,323.1 miles, which is about the equivalent of running from Dorset to Romania.

Apart from wearing-out three pairs of trainers, she has had shin splints for the last few weeks but is otherwise none the worse for wear.

Cheryl Baker, chair of the Friends of Mountjoy School, said: "What an incredible undertaking! What Jackie Shanks has done is absolutely jawdropping.

"When I first heard what she was planning I was a little sceptical, I wasn't sure if it was even possible, but Jackie is an extraordinary person, she is very determined and has

"We are currently raising money to buy outdoor play equipment for the school and the money Jackie raised will go a long way towards us meeting our target."

Dorset Police respond to Westminster attack

DORSET Police have paid tribute to those affected by the London terrorist attack last week and said that public safety is their priority.
Following the events in Westminster – which killed five people, including police officer Keith Palmer and the terrorist who stabbed him outside the Houses of Parliament - Dorset Police Chief Superintendent Colin Searle said: "Our thoughts are with anyone affected by the events in London and our condolences are with the families and friends of those who tragically lost their lives, including a serving police officer.

"Public safety is our priority and we have a variety of established operational tactics that are regularly used to ensure that our local communities and businesses are both well prepared and

"Our aim is to reduce the risk to the public and maximise public awareness. As is normal practice, we are in touch with national anti-terrorism coordinators. There has been no change to the threat level in the UK. We regularly review intelligence and information and would like to reassure the public that there is no specific threat to Dorset. The public should be alert but not alarmed.

"Members of the public should always remain alert to the danger of terrorism and report any suspicious activity to police on 999 or the antiterrorist hotline 0800 789 321."

Mapperton to highlight Pepys link

DIARIES by the 1st Earl of Sandwich and his cousin Samuel Pepys, marking an historic royal moment, will be a highlight for visitors to Mapperton House, near Beaminster, this summer.

The day King Charles II boarded a ship on the coast of Holland to return from exile on May 23rd 1660 was chronicled by both men, who were in attendance on board the Charles, formerly the Naseby. The then Admiral Edward Montagu was head of the fleet and captained the ship on the King's triumphal return to English soil after nine years.

Samuel Pepys, the famous diarist, and Montagu's younger cousin, was a clerk in the Navy Office at the time and later became Secretary to the Navy, responsible for preparing the fleet for the Dutch Wars.

Later given the title of Earl of Sandwich as recognition for his part in restoring Charles to the throne, Edward Montagu's handwritten journal gives a fascinating picture of a hugely important day in the history of the English monarchy.

Pepys' writings include lively and often amusing accounts direct from the King on how his dishevelled state meant he was often mistaken for a "rogue' during his flight from Cromwell's forces and how he at one point was forced to drink alcohol to prove he wasn't a Roundhead.

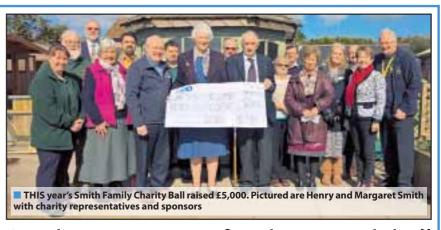

The Earl of Sandwich says: "Samuel Pepys captures everyone's imagination and he seems the perfect vehicle to explain what was happening in the 17th century, especially when the King came back to claim the throne.

"The soon-to-be 1st Earl was given the task of bringing his Majesty home on board his ship, the newly-renamed Charles.

"We hope our visitors will enjoy this exhibit and we are very lucky to have our team of volunteer guides on hand to help us interpret these wonderful stories."

Mapperton House opens for guided tours from Sunday, April 2nd. For more information see www. mapperton.com students addre lenging but rewarding. "In my opinion, the Edge is just as important as STUDENTS at the Sir John Colfox Academy have schools and now there are more than 650 schools praised a framework that helps young people develop life skills

They were invited to Westminster to promote the PixL Edge programme, which focuses on personal and employability skills including leadership, organisation, initiative, resilience and communication.

Daniel Van Zyl, Mannie Wellman, Cara Hatch and Maddy Herbert are Edge ambassadors and part of their role is supporting other students at Colfox and supporting other schools looking to join the programme across England, Scotland and Wales and Colfox is a PixL Edge Centre of Excellence.

Two years ago Colfox was part of a pilot of 12

On the day, all four students had to present in front of teachers from other schools who wanted to know more about the Edge.

Mannie and Maddy were asked to speak in front of nearly 2,000 people on the main stage.

Mannie said: "I have always loved learning. At primary school I always wanted to do more and was driven by challenge, failures and success.

"When I started in year seven, I had no idea how many opportunities I would have and the PixL Edge has pushed me to do so many things, some of which

I would never have dreamed of.

"Whether your talent is sport, music, art or whatever you enjoy, the Pixl Edge gives you the opportunity to get recognised and rewarded for what you do.

"I have learnt so many things about myself and the Edge has made me push myself to be the best I can.

"The activities that stand out for me as being my proudest achievements in Edge were the leadership attribute where I captained the school football team and the attribute of communication, which I achieved by delivering a lesson in science to my classmates, this was chalall my other subjects, in fact I would say it is more important because without the skills developed by the Edge, you would not be successful in your exams and, more importantly, in life."

Maddy said: "Two years ago I was lucky to get the chance to come to this building and receive my apprentice award from Sir John. It was a brilliant

"Achieving the apprentice award back then really helped me to cap what had been a brilliant start to secondary school and to be recognised for developing my leadership, organisation, resilience, initative and communication.

"If you are considering getting your students into the Edge, then you will definitely be doing something that helps them to be recognised for their effort and achievement.

"Now I am working at the graduate level I can see the step up that is expected of older students.

"For example, when I was in year seven, helping someone else support a primary school running club was a great activity.

MANNIE Wellman takes to the stage audience

"This year though, for my graduate, I have run a Friday after school cross country club for a local primary school and I have planned and led all of the sessions for over 20 athletes on my own.

"I have learned so much by doing this and watching their success has been amazing.

'Another great thing has been to become an Edge ambassador.

"In this role I have to work with younger students in year seven and eight and help them to plan and record activities so that they can be successful reaching apprentice level.

"As an ambassador, I have also had the opportunity to meet visitors from other schools who want to come and find out more about what we have been Teacher Andy David, who leads the PixL Edge project at Colfox, said: "They did an incredible job and were greeted with rapturous applause.

"I was amazed at how confident they were and able to deliver a speech in front of nearly 2,000 people is simply breath taking.

"There was no doubt that the audience could see they had the Edge."

Chef leaves Olive Tree

and Maddy Herbert promoted the work of the PixL Edge programme at POPULAR, well-known chef Stef local residents and local businesses, Frigon has left the Olive Tree restaurant in East Street, Bridport, after nine years at the helm.

He has worked both in the kitchen and front of house at the Mediterranean restaurant since opening the restaurant in April 2008, but has now decided to do something new and follow another of his passions.

Stef will be staying in the town with his family and is spending his time on investments, but is still open for work opportunities.

Simon Mazzei is continuing at the Olive Tree, which is remaining open. Stef said: "Thank you very much to all the locals and holidaymakers for their support at the Olive Tree, I really appreciate it.

"Every minute of it was a fantastic venture for me and my family.

"We employed and supported so thank you to all of them and all the suppliers - I really appreciate what we have done in the last nine vears.

"Thank you also to Simon and good luck for the future at the Olive Tree - it is still up and running and offering fantastic food.

"I am going into different investments, but I am still available for work around the area if anyone needs someone with management skills or a private chef!

"I am still going to be in Bridport, my family is growing and living here so we are not going anywhere."

The Love Learning classes, which are run by Stef's wife Penny Frigon, will continue to take place at the Olive Tree.

Under 14s rugby team bound for Ireland

MEMBERS of the Under 14s Bridport Rugby Club have raised thousands of pounds to play a rugby tournament in Ireland.

The team, along with their coaches Guy Furner and Nick Pittard, will be taking part in the Ireland Rugby Rocks Festival in April.

Sophie Smith, whose son plays for the club, said: "We began fundraising two years ago and have now reached our £10,000 target.

"Fundraising events have included a fashion show, monthly bingo, family dog show, duck race, bag packing and much more.

"The Bridport community have been really generous by giving us venues to hold events, raffle prizes and attending. It has been really hard work for all the boys and parents.

"We really want to say thank you and our target has been reached so we are all booked up to go!"

The team are travelling to Ireland by ferry on April 6th, playing at Midleton Rugby Football Club in County Cork for two days against other teams from the UK and across the world.

CHOOSING A CARE HOME

Understanding the type of care you need is an important first step in finding a care home that is right for you.

For more information visit: www.careuk.com

SEARCHING for the right care home is not something any of us do every day. Often when the time does come, it can be quite stressful for all involved. Whether one of our homes is right for you or not, we are here to provide some guidance on the factors you might want to consider in choosing a care home.

Step One: Understand your needs - There are many different types of care homes, ranging from homes which provide specialist nursing or dementia care to others which simply offer a safe and comfortable new home for people who may need a little assistance with daily life.

Which one you choose will obviously depend on the level of care required. Most homes will work with the person entering care to undertake a full care assessment, often with input from family or friends, social workers, care managers or GPs.

Step Two: Identify the best location - Many care home residents have strong social and family connections in their local communities, and will often stay in the same area to maintain these relationships. For others, moving into a care home can provide an opportunity to move closer to family or friends to make it easier for them to visit or provide additional support.

Once you have an understanding of the type of care required and the location which best meets your needs, you can start to develop a shortlist of homes. There are a number of online care home directories which can provide a good place to start, or you can just use a few Google searches to narrow your search.

Step Three: Check on quality standards - At this stage you should also take some time to check third party reviews of some of the care homes you may be considering. The established independent regulator for care homes in England is called the Care Quality Commission. They undertake regular inspections of all care homes to ensure they meet government standards and can help identify any areas for concern. In Scotland, the independent regulator is the Care Inspectorate and in Wales it is the Care and Social Services Inspectorate Wales (CSSIW).

Step Four: Visiting shortlisted homes - Once you have shortlisted a number of homes, it is well worth the time to visit each of them to look around, meet the manager, speak to staff and residents and get a feel for life within that home.

Just like family homes, care homes differ considerably in character and atmosphere and it is important to find an environment in which you or your loved one feels comfortable. This is very much about personal choice and a visit to the home will enable you to get a feel about everything from the care home team and how they approach care to the general buzz and atmosphere of a home.

Step Five: Cost of care - The cost of care can vary greatly depending on the level of support required, but there may well be some options available to help fund the support you need. It's important to know your entitlements at this stage, and to ensure you discuss the costs thoroughly with each care home manager to ensure you have a full understanding of what your care will cost. We know this is one of the biggest concerns for people looking for care, to help you better understand your funding options; view page 19.

Step Six: Settling in - When you do find the right care home, moving in can be the start of a positive new life. Many of our residents take up new hobbies or are able to rekindle interests that weren't possible without the help of friendly and supportive staff. They make new friends and learn new skills which enable them to live happy and fulfilling lives.

YOUR FUNDING OPTIONS...

Understanding all of your funding options can make a big difference to the care you choose.

For more information visit: www.careuk.com

GOVERNMENT support: Depending on your situation, you may be eligible for government assistance in meeting some, or all, of your care costs.

Social care isn't free to everyone. Councils only have a limited amount of money and they may choose to pay for only those people who are in most need of help. When you contact your council about getting a care service it will carry out a care assessment. Depending on where you live, if your needs are assessed as low or moderate you may not be entitled to free care. If your needs do match the level set by your council, it will carry out a financial as-

There are also a number of financial support options for people who devote more than 35 hours per week to caring for a relative or friend. There are a number of criteria you must meet to qualify for the carer's benefit, including being over 16 and ensuring the person you are caring for qualifies for a disability benefit.

Funding your own care: With changes to the way social care entitlements are calculated, we know that many individuals may not qualify for government support when looking for a care home. All of our homes welcome residents who choose to either fund their own care or top up their government entitlements to ensure they have the very best care and support.

Many of our new care homes provide a premium offering to those who wish to fund their own care. Our new homes offer fresh, modern and elegant environments and - like all of our homes - are full of passionate, exceptional people. These homes provide a range of high quality facilities including on-site cinemas, coffee shops and gift stores, dementia gardens and spacious and stylish rooms, all designed to give residents the very best quality of life. All our new homes provide nursing, residential and dementia care under one roof.

Many of our existing care homes also welcome residents who do not qualify for government support and wish to fund their own care.

Support from charities: There are many charities offering support to people who need social care. Organisations such as Age UK and Mencap do a great job in providing information, support and - in some cases - financial advice. You can find out what organisations are offering help in Care UK's list of sources of advice and support available to view at www.careuk.com. 20 Wednesday, March 29th 2017 www.viewnews.co.uk

Recycling banks at risk of removal

PEOPLE AREN'T PUTTING THEIR ITEMS IN THE CORRECT BIN

MORE 'bring banks' for recycling cartons could be at risk of removal across Dorset due to people putting items in the wrong bank.

Last year, the Dorset Waste Partnership (DWP) removed bring banks across Dorset for materials that can now be recycled at the kerbside, such as glass, paper, cans and plastics.

However, some residents are still taking these items to locations where the banks used to be and leaving them on the floor, which is considered littering or fly-tipping.

Some are placing items in the wrong banks, causing materials to be spoiled, especially glass as bottles or jars thrown in with nonglass items which can ruin entire banks of recyclable material.

As a result, bring banks for carton recycling are now at risk of removal as they are becoming too costly to provide.

Thoras can

CARTON recycling bring banks in Dorset are at risk of removal due to people putting the wrong items in the recycling banks. Pictured are ClIr Barbara Manuel and ClIr Ray Bryan of the Dorset Waste Partnership's joint committee.

Cartons typically used for food and drink packaging, such as juices, soup, milk and sauces, are made from fibre, plastic and aluminium foil, so are recycled separately to cardboard and paper.

While they shouldn't be mixed with other recycling at the kerb-side, these waste cartons can be flattened and taken to a carton bank.

Cllr Barbara Manuel, a member of the DWP's joint committee, said: "We know most of these residents are trying to do the right thing by taking their glass, paper, cardboard, cans and plastics to the car parks where the remaining bring banks are, but this is now incorrect and completely unnecessary.

"The kerbside Recycle for Dorset service is available to everyone to conveniently recycle these items and we will take extra recycling at the kerbside if placed in a sturdy container.

"There are also dozens of recycling locations around the county – including our own household recycling centres – that accept these items. We just ask that you don't put incorrect items in the wrong banks, or leave them on the floor."

Cllr Ray Bryan, also a member of the DWP's joint committee, said: "It would be such a shame to lose the carton recycling service in Dorset just because a few wellmeaning individuals are unaware they are using the bring banks incorrectly. I think many people falsely believe these items are sorted by hand, when in reality we are completely reliant on residents putting the right things in the right banks.

"We ask that everyone please help us to protect our valuable carton recycling service by upping the number of cartons we collect and preventing wrong items being placed in these banks."

Unitary authorities plan goes to referendum in Christchurch

MEMBERS of Christchurch Borough Council have voted to support a proposed referendum on local government reorganisation in Dorset.

At their extraordinary full council meeting on March 21st, councillors voted 13 to nine in favour of conducting a referendum through postal ballot with supporting information required.

The referendum will seek residents' views on the proposed creation of two new unitary authorities in Dorset, particularly the urban council comprising Bournemouth, Poole and Christchurch, which Christchurch voted against.

The other authority comprises West Dorset, North Dorset, Purbeck, Weymouth & Portland and East Dorset, and the councils which supported the proposal to form two unitary authorities – West Dorset, Weymouth & Portland, Bournemouth, Poole, North Dorset and Dorset County – agreed and sent a formal proposal to Sajid Javid, the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, asking him to replace Dorset's nine councils with two new unitary councils.

Given the mixed results that came from Christchurch residents, with the household survey showing support for reorganisation but the open survey against, councillors felt it was important to take the opportunity to ask the opinion of residents once more.

Members were advised by chief finance officer lan Milner that the estimated cost of holding the referendum using polling methods, £75,000, was not good use of public money given the consultation carried out across Dorset last autumn.

The postal vote option supported is estimated to cost approximately £50,000.

Cllr David Flagg, acting leader of Christchurch Borough Council, said: "Our priority is to ensure our residents' views are represented.

"With the decision on the Future

Dorset submission expected from the Secretary of State imminently, it is important that we continue to seek the best possible outcome for residents of Christchurch.

"Members were mindful of the advice of the chief finance officer and have therefore chosen to undertake the referendum using a postal vote to ensure the best value for money. "Holding a referendum will

"Holding a referendum will allow us to find out if residents are for or against being part of a unitary authority with Bournemouth and Poole, and once we have this information, we can decide the best way forward."

The deadline for the referendum postal vote is yet to be confirmed, but residents will be given approximately two weeks to return their ballot paper once they are sent out.

The question that residents will be asked at the referendum and all supporting documents will be agreed by councillors at their full council meeting on April 18th.

EASTER FUN FACTS FOR KIDS

- Different countries celebrate Easter in different ways. In Sweden they do not have an Easter Bunny, they have an Easter Wizard!
- Medieval Easter eggs were boiled with onions to give them a golden sheen. Edward I, however, went one better and in 1290 he ordered 450 eggs to be covered in gold leaf and given as Easter gifts.
- 80 million chocolate Easter eggs are sold each year. This accounts for 10% of Britain's annual spending on chocolate!
- The tradition of giving eggs at Easter has been traced back to Egyptians, Persians, Gauls, Greeks and Romans, who saw the egg as a symbol of life.
- egg throwing was held in church. The priest would throw a hardboiled egg to one of the choirboys and it would then be tossed from one boy to another. Whoever held the egg when the clock struck 12 was the winner.
- The first chocolate Easter egg was produced in 1873 by Fry's. Before this, people would give hollow cardboard eggs, filled with gifts.

Playdome

Playdome Opens Sunny Days Nursery & Welcomes The New Free 30 Hours Childcare

Sunny Days Nursery

PLAYDOME will be doing an Easter egg hunt over Easter on Good Friday, Saturday and Easter Monday, all free of charge! We are however closed on Easter Sunday!

Playdome is also part of Sunny days Nurs-

Working parents of three to four-year-olds in England will soon be eligible for 30 hours of free childcare - rather than the current 15 hours. The childcare is only available at Ofsted registered nurseries, pre schools and childminders. The new scheme will be available from September 2017 and your child must have turned 3 before the start of the academic term.

The 30 hours of free childcare can be used term times for 38 weeks or parents can spread the free childcare out over 51 weeks but they would only get 21.5 hours per week.

The Government has been rolling out a pilot scheme in 8 English areas: Wigan, Staffordshire, Swindon, Portsmouth, Northumberland, York, Newham and Hertfordshire. The scheme is scheduled to go nationwide later this year.

There has been 75% take up by eligible parents within the trial areas. Choice of hours and days maybe limited so it will be wise to start looking for suitable providers now. It is possible to split your childcare between two providers to access the 30 hours.

Not everyone is eligible but everyone will still receive the 15 hours free childcare that is currently available for 3 and 4 year olds. For more information please visit www.childcare-support.tax.service.gov.uk.

The Eligibility rules for the 30 hours free childcare are:

- Your child will be aged 3 or 4 when the scheme starts in your area.
- YBoth parents must be working or the sole parent is working in a lone parent family.
- · Each parent earns, on average, a weekly minimum equivalent to 16 hours at National Minimum Wage or National Living Wage.
- Each parent must have an annual income of less than £100,000.
- You live in England.

For a handy guide on whether or not you are eligible check out www.madefor mums.com and follow the links to '30 hours of free childcare'.

Axcess Electric Bikes

Axcess-electric-bikes who have been specialising in electric bikes for 6 years in Honiton have now moved into larger premises in Devonshire Court on the Heathpark estate. Peter Blackman director said "We needed to be in a more prominent position, and our new Retail Showroom opposite the Ambulance station also has more space for displaying the increasing range of electric bikes available".

The company specialises in the sale of their own Axcess Brand of electric bikes which are designed for reliable everyday use. The increased space has enabled the company to introduce 2 new ranges. Firstly a selection of simple folding bikes priced from £499. This range includes the lightest bike they sell which weighs 20.6 Kg (45lb). At the other end of the price range the BH Spanish built electric bikes, priced from £1899 upwards include a good selection of both road bikes and mountain bikes with several different motor options.

The electric bike market in the UK is becoming much more popular, especially with such schemes as the Green Commute Initiative and Cyclescheme which enable customers who wish to cycle to work on an electric bike to save on Tax and national insurance on the purchase.

CREME EGG CUPCAKES

Recipe from www.netmums.com

Serves: 8+ Prep: 10 minutes Cook: 15 minutes

View News

You will need:

- 12 cupcake cases
- 2x piping bags and a 2D nozel (not essential, you could spread the icing on with a flat knife, but a piping bag gives it a more professional finish)
- electric whisk

For the cupcakes:

- 150g unsalted butter, softened
- 125g self-raising flour
- 25g cocoa powder
- 150g caster sugar
- 3 eggs
- 12 mini Creme Eggs (freeze before adding to the batter)

For the topping:

- 150g unsalted butter (never use margarine as you won't get the same consistency), softened
- 350g icing sugar
- yellow food colouring (optional)
- 6 Creme Eggs (chilled it's good to have a few extra in case they crack when slicing), halved

Cupcake method:

1. Preheat oven to Gas mark 4/180°C /170°C fan.

- 2. In a large bowl, whisk all the ingredients (except the mini Creme Eggs, which should be in the freezer chilling nicely before you are ready to bake) until creamy.
- 3. Spoon the mixture into the individual cupcake cases and pop a frozen mini Creme Egg into each case.
- 4. Bake for 10-15 minutes.
- 5. To check they are cooked just press gently and they should spring back. Leave the cakes to cool.

For the frosting:

- 1. Put the icing sugar and butter in a bowl, using an electric whisk, beat together until well mixed if necessary add a drizzle of hot water to soften the mixture.
- 2. Now divide the icing between two bowls and in one bowl add a tiny drop of yellow food colouring.
- 3. Mix well and keep adding more until you have the desired colour.
- 4. Now fill the piping bags with alternate dollops of yellow and white icing this gives the two tone effect.
- 5. Get piping!
- 6. Once finished, top each cupcake with half a Creme Egg, and serve!

The Pilot Boat Inn

ON New Year's Day in 1915 the battleship Formidable was sunk off Start Point in South Devon. In a storm that followed, a life raft containing bodies was blown to Lyme Regis. The Pilot Boat pub offered it's cellar as a mortuary. Lassie, a collie owned by the pub owner, found her way down amongst the bodies, and she began to lick the face of one of the victims, Able Seaman John Cowan. The full story can be found on menus at the pub. Local legend says that our Lassie inspired the films and TV series of the same name.

Internationally acclaimed film returns to Bridport

WHEN The Salt of the Earth was shown to a packed house of Bridport Film Society members last year it was the best received film of the season. Now, on April 6th, Bridport Camera Club, in association with Bridport Arts Centre, is bringing the international award winning film back to Bridport. This time tickets are available to all and the opportunity to see this visually stunning and thought provoking documentary is not to be missed.

Directed by Wim Wenders (one of whose best known works was Buena Vista Social Club), the film follows the life and career of Brazilian photographer Sebastiao Salgado. Since he began his career as a professional photographer in 1973, Salgado has travelled the world telling the stories of the planet's most vulnerable people, torn by conflict, famine and displacement, in haunting black and white images. In 1984, he photographed the famine in Ethiopia; in 1991, the bitter conclusion of the first Gulf war in Iraq; and in 1994, the genocide in Rwanda.

Eventually, having reached a point where he could no longer endure the human suffering he has witnessed, Salgado turns away from photography and returns to his family's farm, where he sets about reversing the effects of years of neglect and erosion caused by over cultivation. His regeneration methods came to be adopted throughout South America and eventually, the world. In the film, the growth of a seedling on the farm is a metaphor for Salgado's rejection of despair and rediscovery of hope and faith in mankind, as he embarks on his latest photographic project, Genesis, a record of the discovery of unspoiled territories and astonishing flora, fauna and landscapes and a tribute to the beauty of the planet.

The story is told in the words of co-director Juliano Ribeiro Salgado, the photographer's son, and of Salgado himself and is accompanied by a hypnotic soundtrack by Laurent Petitgand. Painful to watch at times, the film charts the depths of the human race, but overwhelmingly its message is of hope and regeneration – "a powerful, thought provoking film whose stunning images will stay with you for a long time."

Jesse Molins weaves guitar magic in Lyme JESSE MOLINS is a popular and versatile quitariet whe has pushed his so JESSE MOLINS is a popular and versatile guitarist who has evolved his sophisticated style working in the South West and London. As well as leading his own groups he is a regular with the Dave Hankin Big Band and has been describes as "a hard swinging jazz guitarist with a style reminiscent of Wes Montgomery" in the Express & Echo. He will be performing a variety of well-loved jazz tunes with pianist Philip Clouts as part of the 'Jazz in the Bar' series at the Marine Theatre, Lyme Regis on Sunday, April 9th.

Jesse started playing the guitar aged 11. His stepfather Jon Stokes, guitarist and trumpet player, introduced Jesse to Jazz and there were many hours of jamming and learning jazz tunes. Jon would play Charlie Parker, Miles Davis and Thelonious Monk tunes and Jesse would listen and try to make sense of what was going on-the exposure at a young age was invaluable.

Jesse studied jazz and popular music at the Musicians Institute, London. He has had lessons from some of the country's finest jazz guitarists including Mike Outram, Dave Cliff and Dominic Ashworth, and still devotes a large amount of time to practice and improvement. Jesse has performed with Mike Outram and the legendary bandleader and composer Mike Westbrook. He has co-led a jazz jam session in Exeter for three years with Al Swainger and Gary Evans, and performed Scott Stroman's "Jazz Mass" at Exeter Cathedral.

In addition to his strong jazz credentials Jesse is an accomplished classical guitarist, and as well as the incomparable Wes Montgomery counts jazz guitar greats Joe Pass, Jim Hall and the underrated Emily Remler amongst his heroes. Expect to hear jazz played at the highest level in the intimate and colourful Marine Theatre Rar Jess Molins plays at the Marine Theatre's Jazz in the Bar on Sunday, April 9th, at 8pm. Tickets are £11, available from the box office on 01297 442138.

Lyme Youth Theatre's National Connection project hits the stage

NEXT week young people from all over the local East Devon and West Dorset areas take to the Marine Theatre's stage in their National Theatre Connections play The Monstrum, by Kellie Smith.

These drama students and pupils have been rehearsing since October and, following the performances in Lyme Regis, will be travelling to Bath to perform at Bath Theatre Royal in the regional contest in April.

The Monstrum is about growing up, relationships and young people so it's the perfect piece for the Youth Theatre to present. Having the opportunity to take part in a national project on this level is a huge privilege and offers the participants a real chance to work hard and participate in a high profile project.

Director Clemmie Reynolds said "We have a cast of all ages from 11 to 18, from different schools, towns, backgrounds and they all come together in this cast, playing an isolated community brought together in a crisis. The way the young people have tackled the subject matter and rehearsal process has been just wonderful and all of them have grown hugely in the process."

Watch the production at the Marine Theatre, Lyme Regis from Wednesday 29th to Friday, March 31st at 7.30pm. Tickets are just £5.

Elaine plays jazz from the Great American Songbook

VOCALIST Elaine Davies is also a multi-instrumentalist, playing saxophone, flute and clarinet, and the audience will be able to experience all of these at the Bridport Arts Centre Jazz Café on Friday, April 7th. (She also plays the piano but this role will be filled on this occasion by the jazz café impresario Philip Clouts).

Elaine appeared on prime time TV during the many years that she was with the Midland Youth Jazz Orchestra, and when she eventually moved to Devon she played in the Algy Davies Quartet, supporting many visiting national jazz musicians.

Elaine Davies is the musical director of the Carlton Big Band and the Carlton Swing Band. She also has her own jazz quartet, is a woodwind teacher in Devon, and a jazz educator. She plays the lead tenor saxophone in both bands as well as being a vocalist in the band.

Elaine is from the West Midlands and is a multi-instrumentalist. She started playing piano at the age of seven, clarinet at eleven, and saxophone since she was fifteen, then the flute at eighteen. She is also a classically trained singer, and joined Opera South West when she came to the West Country, enjoying playing such prestigious leading roles such as Bizet's 'Carmen' at Buckland Abbey.

Instead of touring with the lvy Benson Band, she chose instead to come to Plymouth to take up a Head of Music teaching position. She first got the bug for jazz when she started doing jazz club gigs in Birmingham with her saxophone teacher, Mike Burney (Lead tenor saxophonist in Syd Lawrence Orchestra) while still at school. Having tuition from Don Rendell at Whirtley Hall, Sheffield, and master classes from Alan Wakeman and Stan Sultzman at Glamorgan College, Elaine soon became passionate about playing jazz. She was a member of the original Midland Youth Jazz Orchestra for many years, on lead tenor, making an album with Kenny Baker and the band, and appearing on prime time TV with MYJO. Since moving to Plymouth, she met her first husband Algy Davies at a jazz club. He was a superb jazz trombonist and Elaine played saxophone and flute in the Algy Davies Sextet, which often featured stars such as Don Rendell, Dick Pearce, Harry Beckett and Bobby Wellins. Elaine has played with many other bands such as Tour De Force, Joey The Lips, Soul Station and various jazz bands, and supports the Cavitron Fund by playing saxophone at their Fundraising Luncheons. She is kept busy being a bandleader and saxophonist, and teaching woodwind instruments in schools.

Elaine will sing and play a variety of popular jazz tunes from the "Great American Songbook" at Bridport Arts Centre's Jazz Cafe on Friday, April 7th at 8pm. Tickets are £10, available by calling 01308 424204 or online at www.bridport-arts.com.

Comedy is the new rock n' roll at Camp Bestival

WITH A whole host of fantastic music and amazing family fun already announced for this year's Camp Bestival, we are in a proper party mood for our 10th birthday bash, and very excited indeed to unveil laughs aplenty with our side-splitting Big Top Sunday evening comedy lineup. Featuring three of the best names on the circuit right now, there will be more than a touch of rock n' roll swagger going down, plus there's news of interactive fun when the kids are put in charge! And there are even more comedy names coming soon, so keep your eyes peeled for when we send in the clowns this July 27-30 at Lulworth Castle, Dorset.

Commenting on her third Camp Bestival appearance, Kerry Godliman said: "Once again there's a fantastic Big Top line-up of comedy at Camp Bestival, Reginald D Hunter is easily one of the best comedians around, Gary Delaney is a non-stop gag machine and hey I'm not too shabby, myself. And with loads more comics and clowns being announced soon, you won't be stuck for a laugh at Lulworth Castle this July!"

Frequently described as the coolest man in comedy, Reginald D Hunter has become an established headline act across the globe, so we are delighted that he will be headlining this year's comedy for us. A big hitter on TV, Reginald is a regular on shows including Have I Got News for You, Live at the Apollo and QI.

We'll also have Mock the Week's near the knuckle oneliner king Gary Delaney firing off cheeky schoolboy humour with infectious charm, and our compere will be the straight-talking and quick-witted Kerry Godliman, who is a Radio 4 regular, has appeared on Live at the Apollo a few times, Jack Dee's Referendum HelpDesk, Channel 4's Comedy Gala and was Hannah in Ricky Gervais comedy, Derek.

And, ensuring there's plenty of laughter on the cards for the kids too, we have new hit show Kidocracy, an interactive theatre show for children aged 6+, presented by Keith Farnan (Michael McIntyre's Comedy Roadshow). Appearing as his alter ego, Brehon, an ancient Irish know-it-all, the show begins when children are told they are being given an island to rule. In just under an hour, they must elect leaders, write anthems, come up with rules that rock and deal with all sorts of crises because running the world isn't just all fun, fun, fun, there's stuff to be done as well!

Keep checking the website www.campbestival.net and the Facebook and Twitter for all the latest info.

Nicky Sweetland's Showine

ON THE SHOWBIZ BEAT

No time for rest for this onewoman show!

I LIKE to think I'm a walking, talking one-woman show. Yes, I have great support from friends, family and colleagues, but mostly I work alone, I parent alone and I even spend a huge amount of my free time on my own. It's not always been like that, but at the ripe old age of 40, I have come to terms with the fact that the only person I can really rely on is myself.

This week I've had a tough job juggling all of my solo engagements and it's been extremely busy, with a deadline on the popular Lyme Regis Experience magazine - which I sell into ally - both of my teenagers have needed support and I've had to fit in some extra theatre engagements.

It's really lovely to be in demand and I've worked hard to gain a favourable reputation as a theatre critic, but sometimes, I need to learn to say no, as the pressure I put myself under to succeed can impede my ability to fulfill my other roles competently and I end up with an overpowering feeling of guilt.

One PR agency representative last week described being as "omnipresent" when it came to this week appearing in the London Weekly News and the South London Press, on the theatrical websites, West End Wilma and Broadway World, my weekly spot on BBC Radio Kent and this for the View From Newspapers, I do seem to be covering quite a lot of bases.

Ironically three of the five shows I've seen this week have had strong women at the centre (not that I think I'm a particularly strong woman!) and after a visit to see An American in Paris (absolutely beautiful) I was treated to a sensational Tucker, before I headed to Richmond Theatre to see Jodie Prenger as Shirley Valentine. The 30th anniversary revival of Willy Russell's one-woman play was glorious and Prenger gave some real glamour to the famous housewife.

It was during the interval in Richmond that I learned of the atrocities, which were occurring in Westminster. I switched on my phone and was greeted with panicked messages from family and friends desperately trying to find out if I was safe.

I'll admit, I struggled to concentrate on the second act and I almost decided to cancel my central London theatre trip that evening, but there is a steely determination amongst Londoners that the terrorists will not win and as I now see myself as an honorary city girl, I felt it would have been cowardly of me not to continue with my day in support and defiance.

I'm not professing to being brave, the brave ones were the medical staff, police and general public who ran to assist those injured in the attack. but I did feel that I mustn't let the perpetrators of this type of incident influence the trajectory of my day.

The tube journey back into central London was iust the same as usual and although Westminster station was closed and it did feel a bit eerie as the rush hour train passed the empty platforms, Londoners went about their business with their normal level of purpose and poise.

After pausing to take stock, I continued with my working day and went to see The Miser starring Griff Ryhs Jones, Lee Mack and Mathew Horne, which was extremely disappointing, but I was pleased to see the show go ahead and the theatre was

I then returned to the South West to put the Lyme Regis Experience to bed, before heading down to Exeter to review Kay Mellor's Passionate Woman, which starred Liza Goddard and was a little bit strange.

There's no let up next week, when I have a deadline on the Seaton, Beer and Colyton Experience magazine and an interview with the comedian Reginald D Hunter, who is performing both in Lyme Regis and Shepherd's Bush, so I can cover both of my areas.

I'm also going to see the acclaimed musical The Life at Southwark Playhouse, Escape the Scaffold at Theatre 503 and I'll be seeing Broadchurch and former Doctor Who star David Tennant in Don Juan In Soho at the Wyndham's

I think this one-woman show could do with taking a leaf out of Shirley Valentine's book and heading off on to warmer climes again. I'd better start saving!

MAYFAIR

▲ Laura Bredenkamp, Sales Manager at Mayfair Poundbury

A RECENT report published by Rightmove showed that asking prices in England and Wales increased to above-average figures during February and March of this year.

The month leading to March 11 saw prices sought by sellers increase to 1.3 percent higher than the month previous, matching its second strongest increase for the period since 2007. Prices were up 2.3 percent on the previous year.

The figures in the report, published on March 20th, clearly represent that a shortage of properties has, and continues, to override any apprehension surrounding Brexit within the housing market, as Mayfair Town & Country predicted in 2016 - contrary to the gloomy forecast made by former Chancellor of Exchequer George Osborne prior to June's European Union membership referendum last year.

Economists now expect house prices to continue to rise by approximately 2.5 percent this year. This is at a slower rate than in previous years but is stilling heading in a positive direction.

Laura Bredenkamp, Sales Manager at Mayfair Town & Country's branch in Poundbury, commented: "The report is positive reading, and quantifies our feeling that the market is bouncing back with increased confidence after the initial surprise of the outcome to the EU referendum. The demand for housing continues to rise - and with it, a large pool of buyers looking to make a move. If you are thinking of moving, we really feel it is a seller's market right now".

To arrange a free, no-obligation market appraisal and find out how much your property is worth in today's market, contact Laura and the team at Mayfair Town & Country on 01305 269200.

5 TIPS FOR BETTER ELECTRICS

By Julia Gray, Press Association

1. It can be hard to tell how old your home's electrics are and how safe they are. Fuse boxes are sometimes replaced without the wiring being changed, for example, and even ones that look relatively modern won't necessarily comply with current regulations. If you're planning building work, get a qualified electrician to check the electrics - they should be checked by an electrician every 10 years anyway, and often when buying a property, as rewiring it will cost thousands of pounds.

2. A full rewire, which is expensive and disruptive, may not be necessary - the electrics may just need updating, such as adding or moving sockets, or changing the light fittings. Smaller jobs like this are less expensive and disruptive than a full rewire, but may reveal problems with the wiring you didn't know about. It's a good idea to live in a new home before having it rewired or partially rewired so you can work out where you need new sockets and switches.

3. Dated bathrooms often lack practical and safe electrics. such as an extractor fan. Extractors help to prevent mould and mildew by removing the moisture from the room. They also extract smells, which is handy for any room with a loo in it, and usually come on with the ceiling light, although they can be turned off separately. If you're someone who keeps the extractor turned off because the noise is annoying, you've defeated the purpose of having one, so consider investing in a 'silent' extractor, which may not be exactly that, but close to.

4. These days, the light switch for the bathroom is often located outside the door, which isn't ideal if you want to put the light on when you're naked and already in the bathroom. For this reason, a pull cord in the bathroom, although more traditional, may be a more practical option for your household. Bathroom wall lights, or an illuminated mirror, can be a useful alternative to a ceiling light, either for soft, mood lighting or bright, task lighting.

5. While some electrical work in some rooms can be done safely and legally by DIYers, getting a qualified electrician to do it is recommended - check their credentials and references. The easiest option is often to use an electrician who belongs to a government-approved 'competent person scheme', such as NICEIC (www.niceic.com), as they can self-certify that their work complies with building regulations.

HOW-TO TIP

If you're laying a stone floor, such as slate tiles, it's often advisable to seal them with tile stain stop/sealer first so that any tile adhesive and grout you get on them is easier to remove, especially if the tiles are textured. Check with the manufacturer or retailer, though, as this may not be advisable for your particular tiles.

Fiat launches limited edition 500-60th to celebrate 60th anniversary of original Fiat 500

FIAT is launching a special edition 500 convertible, to mark the 60th anniversary of the iconic global bestseller.

This special edition comes with a grey fabric roof and Dolcevita bi-colour paintwork, combining tri-coat white for the body of the car and pastel ivory for the bonnet and pillars. Chrome mirror covers and special 16-inch alloy wheels, with white diamond finish, complete the look and pay homage to the styling cues of the original Fiat 500. It will be badged with vintage Fiat logos and a bespoke 500-60th icon, with the red '6' and '0' incorporated into the last two figures of the 500 logo.

Inside, a bordeaux vinyl dashboard and vintage Fiat logo clad steering wheel complement the retro inspired ivory leather seats, with contrasting bordeaux piping, ivory leather gear knob, bespoke floor mats and 500-60th kickplates.

While the styling pays tribute to the original 500, its standard technology remains up-to-date with a multi-function steering wheel, 7-inch HD Uconnect™

www.rousdon

Radio Live touchscreen system with Bluetooth, satellite navigation and USB and AUX IN ports, rain and dusk sensors, cruise control, automatic climate control, fog lights and rear parking sensors.

Bringing the 500-60th bangup-to-date, Apple CarPlay and Android Auto™ are both now available as standard. They enable access to smartphone applications directly from the 7-inch screen of the Uconnect™ system, integrated in the central console.

The 500-60th is available with a choice of three petrol engines; the 1.2-litre 69hp and the 0.9litre TwinAir with 85hp, both available with a manual or Dualogic gearbox, and the 0.9-litre TwinAir with 105hp. The 0.9-litre TwinAir with 85hp and Dualogic gearbox, emits just 88g/km CO2, while returning 74.3mpg on the combined cycle.

Having set trends worldwide in lifestyle, fashion and art, more than six million Fiat 500s have been sold globally in the past six decades. Just 250 units of this model will make their way to the UK, and the first 60 units built will be completed with an individually numbered limited edition plate and certificate of authenticity.

The launch of the 500-60th forms part of the Fiat 500's 60th anniversary celebrations. "Forever Young" will celebrate Fiat 500 models from the past and present.

The Fiat 500 has influenced fashion, society and behaviours and become a genuine trendsetter. Fans can get involved by taking an online tour of the era 500 was born at www.500foreveryoung.fiatpress.com, looking back at the '500-mania", art, and advertising that helped to shape the icon.

The Fiat 500-60th is now on sale with a starting price of £19,240 OTR, with first deliveries taking place from 4th July. For more information on the new Fiat 500-60th please visit www.fiat.co.uk or to locate your nearest Fiat dealer www.fiat.co.uk/dealers.

Blues stay on track with fighting performance

SYDENHAMS WESSEX LEAGUE Premier Division

FAREHAM TOWN 2 PORTLAND UTD 2

THE best two in-form teams in the division fought out a 2-2 draw at the Cams Alder Stadium on Saturday, and although it ended Portland United's 14 game winning streak, it was a creditable result seeing they were two goals down against a team that had only lost once at home since late November.

A strong wind played its part with the Blues defending against it in the first half, although they could have been two goals up before the hosts got into their stride, with the Creeksiders keeper Luke Douglas the hero.

First he produced a superb double save, parrying Ryan McKechnie's first effort from Jamie Beasley's cross, before tipping his fierce follow up over the bar, and then denied Beasley after the powerful winger had cut in from the left leaving him one-on one with the keeper.

Fareham took the lead in the 24th minute when Beasley misjudged a long diagonal ball caught on the wind, allowing a shot which keeper Sean Lillington parried and Curt Robbins followed up to tap

They doubled their advantage on the half-hour when a misplaced pass on the edge of the home penalty area was intercepted allowing Ashley Tattersall to run 65vards down the left wing before squaring the ball to top scorer Simon Woods, who made no mis-

With the wind at their back in the second half, it only took Portland 25 seconds to reduce the deficit; Alex Godfrey letting fly with a 35-yarder that flew into the top corner of Douglas' net.

Buoyed by their early success the Blues soon equalised five minutes later. Alex Halloran spotted McK echnie's run and picked him out with a neat chip over the defence, and the striker rounded Douglas with some neat footwork to stroke the hall home.

They almost had a third three minutes later but Douglas somehow managed to get his fingertips to Beasley's curling free kick to turn for a corner, from which Chris Clarke's thunderous near post header hit the crossbar before being cleared.

Fareham, to their credit, were not out of this entertaining game and Lillington did well to foil Woods with his legs from close range before Callum Laycock's shot was scrambled off the line.

Max Buckler had a great chance in added time to claim victory, but skied his effort from 10 yards.

Despite the first dropped points since late October, the point keeps Portland in second spot three points ahead of Blackfield & Langley who lost 4-1 at home to Horndean.

Earlier in the week Portland had stretched their record to 14 with a 2-0 home victory over Amesbury Town in a wind affected game at Grove Corner.

Ed Bastick gave them an interval lead, and Beasley added a second midway through the second half.

Assistant manager Mark Carter said: "Unfortunately it wasn't one of our better performances and the wind didn't help. We had the advantage in the first half and should have been six up.

"We had all the pressure but a combination of poor shooting and good goalkeeping meant we only had a one goal lead.

"They fell into the trap of playing the long ball with the wind after the break which made it easier for us, and whilst we were never really troubled it was good to get the second to seal the points.

MAGNA DORSET PREMIER LEAGUE

HAMWORTHY REC 5 BRIDPORT RES 0 THIS was never going to be an easy task for Bridport Reserves.

Having played title favourites Holt United and top six Merley Cobham Sports in the previous 11 days with a game against Wareham sandwiched in between, manager Shaun Annetts was expecting another hard task against third placed Hamworthy Rec and so it

This match was almost a carbon copy of their 4-1 reverse against Merley four days earlier when having held their illustrious opponents to a single goal at half-time, but conceding the second early in the second half saw heads drop and the opposition help themselves to more goals.

The Bees manager said: "We knew they are a good side and it was going to be tough, and so it proved, but we were poor in nearly every department and we made a good side look very good. "We didn't have any efforts on goal, gave the ball away immediately when we did get it. "Our defensive shape and awareness was poor and so it was a hard afternoon.

"The only one to come out of the game with credit was keeper Kieron Park who made a couple of fine saves in the first half to keep us in the game at 1-0 at half-time.

"However we conceded a second early in the second half and it was like a switch being flicked, because immediately heads dropped and we allowed them to score three Annetts added: "This year I have been fairly positive, there have not been many games I have come away feeling down, because in recent week we have done fairly well. The biggest disappointment was not beating Wareham where we should have been four or five up in half an hour and lost 2-0.

"We knew the other three were going to be tough, but it just proves the lads are a long way off being able to compete with those top

"Most of the side have had a season, or most in the DPL and over the summer have got to learn quickly and push on. Being young sters doesn't wear anymore and they've had their bedding in period, but now they have to step up to the plate.

'Technically we are very good, but we do have a soft centre and don't have anyone who can win tackles in midfield, which is as important as scoring goals, and teams are exploiting that."

PERRY STREET & DISTRICT LEAGUE Premier Division

NETHERBURY 1 BEAMINSTER 13

BEAMINSTER'S march towards the Perry Street and District Premier League title was given a huge boost after they thrashed lowly Netherbury 13-1.

Beaminster lie in second place, three points behind leaders Barrington, but are now hot on their tails following Saturday's maul-

Star striker Richie Hebditch added to his impressive goal tally this season by netting eight of the goals, while Robin Jones scored a hat-trick; there were singles from Shane Evans and captain Rich Runyard. Netherbury's goal came via a deflection through a crowded hox.

Beaminster manager Childs said: "It was nice to claw back our goal difference after losing 23 goals when Drimpton withdrew from the league as I feel goal difference may play a part in the title race.

'We must keep winning and see what happens around us. Fair play to Netherbury, they never gave up and were always battling and even when losing everyone was committed. They played the game in the right way which is always nice to be involved in."

UPLYME 2 WAYTOWN HOUNDS 3

WAYTOWN were looking to get back to winning ways following last week's loss to Forton Rangers and couldn't have asked for a better start scoring within 20 seconds.

Waytown now find themselves in fourth place in the league, only one point off the top spot, however, they have played a game more than the sides directly above them The Hounds' couldn't have got off to a better start at Venlake when an attack from the kick off saw Rob Watts jink past two players and squared the ball to Legg who smashed home for his 20th of the Things for the Hounds got even better 10 minutes later when the influential Watts scored with a cross-cum-shot from out wide.

Uplyme did eventually settle and got back into the game although the Hounds were composed and certainly went in at half-time on Adam Cody-Boutcher and Simon Smyth working well together in the middle of midfield.

Rob Watts picked up an injury in the 55th minute which saw the shape of the game change.

Within minutes of the change Jake Bearpark won a penalty after a clumsy foul in the area. Bearpark dusted himself off to tuck away the spot kick.

Five minutes later Waytown's lead was gone. A free kick was well delivered and poor marking saw Bearpark make it 2-2.

The Hounds were clearly rattled and both teams searched for a winner. The game got to the 87th minute and Adam Cody-Boutcher scored the winner. Pouncing on a loose ball to slot home past the Hounds manager Joe Carter said he was delighted with the result: "Credit to Uplyme, that's two late winners we've scored against

"I felt we deserved the points based on our first half perfor-

"Our second half wasn't bad, we just had a slack five minutes when we lost Watts. He was man of the match, although everyone played their part in the win.'

HAWKCHURCH 1 PYMORE 0

HAWKCHURCH'S impressive New Year form continued, as they impressive beat league leaders Pymore to keep their hunt for the title on course.

Hawkchurch find themselves five points off the top with two games in hand on the teams above them.

Last week, Hawkchurch lost the reverse fixture, as their form seemed to stutter, but a win has pushed them well into contention with the four teams above them looking nervously over their shoulders. Josh Short poked the ball past Pymore's keeper whilst on the floor to grab the crucial match winner.

The result was helped when Hawkchurch goalkeeper James Mitcham made his fifth penalty save of the season to hold on to the slim lead.

Hawkchurch manager martin bright said: "A couple players stood out for me Gavin Herrod in centre midfield and also Glenn Harding at centre half having another solid game.
"Nice to have Andy Dymond back in the squad after a long period out and looking pretty sharp coming on for the last 15mins.

"Also nice to see Dan Richards looking so well after his accident only a week ago.'

Division Three CREWKERNE RANGERS RES O UPLYME RESERVES 1

A LEAGUE trip to Uplyme Reserves' Reg Eglon Cup final opponents Crewkerne Rangers Rese rves provided a good challenge and an insight into their opponents.

The 1-0 leaves Uplyme 11 points off the top, but with three games in hand on first placed Misterton Reserves, the title race is still wide

With Jamie Murray missing and Frank Harris still injured as well as several first team call ups, Sam Wooster dropped into defence and Isaac Rodin into midfield in a rearranged starting 11, with Wes Holmes back In midfield.

A bobbly pitch on a sunny day saw an even start with early opportunities at both ends - Ryan Smith fired over after a few minutes before Crewkerne hit the post when Uplyme's old nemesis of failing to clear a bouncing ball in their area resurfaced.

Shortly after, Crewkerne found the net but fortunately for the away side two Rangers plays had strayed offside.

Uplyme Reserves manager, Stu Wooster said: "This was a warning for us and did act as a wake up as we tightened up at the back and improved through the half."

"At the other end, Jonnie Harris was getting to the by-line and pro-viding crosses and despite our team talk we didn't get on the end of them quick enough."

James Souter-Philips had a good run and shot well saved before eventually a cross from the right saw Souter-Philips out jump the Rangers keeper, the ball fell to Ryan Smith who rolled into an empty net to give Uplyme the lead.

Just before half-time the busy Crewkerne 'keeper made a great save from Smith who fashioned some good chances.
The second half was an even affair, Crewkerne put an extra man up front and caused Uplyme prob-lems, Marcus Bearpark being called into action early on.

Lorcan Hankin and Wes Holmes were starting to get hold of the midfield but the young Uplyme side were still vulnerable to the long ball at times, particularly from Crewkerne's deep lying midfielder. Wooster added: "We lacked a bit Pullinger was bought on up front and Ryan Smith moved out wide to try and get the second goal. "This did improve us and again,

Smith, fed by Harris and Souter-Philips had chances smothered and saved."

A late corner almost cost the traveling Uplyme side as an unmarked player at the far post headed just wide.

Uplyme could have put the result beyond doubt in the dying stages after a superb through ball from Holmes put Smith one on one with the advancing keeper, a split second hesitation allowed the keeper to smother at Smith's feet when it would have been easier to lob the glove man.

Wooster concluded: "Crewkerne provided a stiff challenge and gave warning of a tough Reg Eglon cup final to come on Easter Monday.

"The last two games have provided a similar pattern, we are creating chances but have gone off the boil in our finishing, tending to over complicate rather than taking shots early at times and attempting to beat one man too many something to work on as we go into back to back games with Ilminster. Some good performances, Ben Prosser in defence, Marcus Bearpark solid in goal, Wes Holmes and Lorcan Hankin in midfield but James Souter-Philips' work rate was outstanding, he covered every blade of grass on the pitch for the cause. Well done,

TOMMY TABBERER CUP Semi-final

CHARMOUTH 0 HALSTOCK 3

CHARMOUTH'S Tommy Tabberer Cup run came to an end on Saturday when they succumbed to a 3-0 home defeat against Halstock.

A tough game for Charmouth and the score line flattered a strong Halstock side. Charmouth took to the pitch and started the strongest, hitting the post twice within the first 15 minutes.

Striker Dan Rumsby was the un-lucky player who hit the woodwork with both rebounds falling straight back to Halstock's keeper.

Charmouth went in to the break 1-0 down after a long throw squirmed through to the far post to be tucked away from short range.

Charmouth manager Kevin Pratt said: "We continued to press in the second half but as we pushed further and further up the field we left it light at the back and unfortunately Halstock managed to seal the game with a 3-0 win.

"The team can take a lot of positives from the game and even though we did not make it to the final it was a strong showing and on another day those two early chances would have fallen our way and changed the game com-

Merley too strong for young Bees

BRIDPORT Reserves' young team found the strength and experience of Merley Cobham Sports too much as they learn the lesson of stepping up from youth to

Although Shaun Annetts talented side held the lean, quick and experienced visitors for the first quarter of the match. they were brushed aside in the second

Both sides include one veteran player: Simon Gale, former Yeovil Town striker now the reserves assistant manager at St Mary's; and Matt Groves the former Dorchester and Weymouth striker, Both showed their experience in bringing others into play and both scored.

However it was Bees' young keeper Kieron Park who was the first to impress, making three excellent saves in the first ten minutes; his speed and timing to save at the feet of Jack Mills the pick of

At the other end, Josh Hull whose movement and running was often wasted by poor distribution to him from midfield got along the byeline, but Craig Castle at the far post couldn't quite connect, whilst the Bees also saw one effort cleared off the line following a corner.

Merley took the lead on 23 minutes when MotM Lee Wilkins stooped to head home Groves corner at the near post, and he might have added another soon after but blazed wide from 20 yards.

Bridport's best chance fell to Sam Handyside who chased down a poor headed back pass from Alan Marsh, but then lobbed well wide as keeper Aaron Drayton rushed out.

Park came to his sides rescue on 40 minutes with the best save of the night. getting down at his near post to turn Wilkins diving header behind for a corner, from which Peter Pritchard headed just wide.

The second half saw Gale show his experience by chesting down Billy Evans' cross into the path of Riley Weedon, but his 15-vard shot went wide.

Groves then kept his cool on 62 minutes when the ball bobbled around the Bridport box and he calmly controlled it before volleying over Park's

The goal appeared to knock the stuffing out of the young Bees and Merley took control of the game, and they put the result beyond doubt on 71 minutes when an unmarked Luke Whittaker picked his spot from Groves inswinging

Play switched almost immediately to the other end and Merley showed how to do it as they cut open the Bees defence for Asa Phillips to fire a left foot shot high to Parks right for their fourth

There was consolation for Bridport and for Hull's tenacity on 86 minutes. Put through, he started to outpace Whittaker who in desperation brought him down in the box, leaving Gale to score with aplomb from the spot.

With a completely different team, Bridport realised from the first whistle that they were a more combative opponent than before.

It was 'nip and tuck' all the way in the first nine holes, as Steve and Phil got off to a flying start with three points at each of the first three holes followed by Phil scoring a birdie for four points at the 4th.

Arthur then birdied the long 6th for four points enabling both pairs to score 24 points on the first nine. On the back nine Phil and Steve forged ahead to win with 46 points while James and Arthur finished

The MARCH STABLEFORD saw over ten people equal or better their handicap. Top of that quality tree was Graham Barton with 42 points, which included an impressive array of pars and three birdies as he romped away with DIVISION 1.

Arthur Daines and Mark Scott, both with 39 points, fought it out for second spot which in the end went to Arthur with his superior back nine score of 22 points. Top of DIVISION 2 and also winning by three clear shots, was the effervescent Mike Hankey whose 41 points was built on a solid, sensible front nine score of 22

Both Matt Brotherton and Ian McGown tied on 38 points, but Matt's 20 points was the better back nine score so he took second place. Like London buses it seems a hole in one comes in pairs, after Brian Deem's last week, John Perryman scored an ace on the 3rd hole helping himself to five points as well.

The ladies' Spring FOURBALLBETTER BALL competition was also a close fought affair. A classic performance by Anne Humphries and Jane Broom, both of whom scored a two, saw off the challenge of Caroline Baker and Judith Page as both pairs finished on 38 points.

Although steady on both nines Anne and Jane won with a better back nine as both players gelled together to take the

HOCKEY

Hawks end season with below par performance

WEST DORSET HOCKEY CLUB

ECVB Hornets A 2 West Dorset Hawks 1

WHETHER it was end of season lethargy knowing they had done enough to stay in Davis Wood Southern 2 for another season, or the Hornets needing a victory to avoid relegation, this match was a bit of a damp squib.

In a scrappy game where decisions appeared to go the way of the Hornets, the Hawks struggled to make much of an impression, and although Dan Wyatt scored a good goal, the hosts got their win.

Unfortunately it wasn't enough as PGSOB A thumped Chard 4-1 to not only move them above ECVB out of the bottom four relegation spots, but deny Chard the title.

West Dorset A's final game was cancelled by Minehead on Saturday morning when they failed to raise a team.

Currently second from bottom of South East 2, it is understood that the game will not be replayed despite the fact that victory could see the North Devon team avoid relegation.

West Dorset A are already safe sitting in fifth place, and if the ruling stands would mean they would be awarded the three points, although it will make no difference to their league stand-are part of the coaching clubs which both sides run during the season. Although both teams produced entertaining and skilful hockey, West Dorset, pictured left in blue, on this occasion ran out easy winners.

INSIDE: Comprehensive local sport round-up

Sam's boost for depleted Bees boosted with the news that he will have the services of central defender Sam Buckler for the rest of the season.

The former Bees player has returned to St Mary's Field to get regular football. Having broken his leg in two places at the begin ning of 2016 at Odd Down, he spent the next six months recovering.

Although not fully fit, he decided to sign for Portland United where he continued to reclaim his fitness, and although he made a brief appearance for the Blues as a substitute just before Christmas, was anxious to get regular game time, and went on loan to Christchurch.

However he has found travelling difficult and approached Fricker who was delighted to welcome him back, and will be in the squad for Saturday's visit by Longwell

Green Sports (3pm kick-off).
Fricker said: "I haven't seen a lot of him to be honest, but talking to Ryan and the lads they said he's a decent player. It's a bonus for us really as the centre halves are dropping like flies at the moment!

by Stuart Broom

The news was great relief for the Bees boss who lost both captain Ryan Hayter and Loius Rutter to injury during last Saturday's 3-0 defeat at Melksham Town.

Such is the situation at St Mary's at the moment that Fricker was forced to take to the field on Saturday following the injury to Rutter 20 minutes into the second half.

Having already used Josh Hull when he replaced Hayter – forced off with a recurrence of his ankle injury – the Bees' boss had no options but to take his place at right

He said: "It was a case of needs must. We were already without the injured Andy Martin and Leigh Bailey, and Ed Butcher had to withdraw on Friday following an emergency operation to remove a tooth with an abscess, so when Ryan and Louis had to be replaced it was down to me.

"I just did the basics and cleared my lines. It wasn't pretty, but I must say I thought I sitting in third place in the Toolstation Western League Premier Division, and only having lost three games all season, but the Bees gave a good account of themselves, something Fricker is looking to exploit in the final games.

"They are a good side, and only one defeat at home proves that, but that being said, credit to the lads; they played well and were unlucky to be honest. It was guite an even game. We now need to look to the last six games and see if we can add some points to boost our position.
"Apart from Street on Good Friday who are second which will be tough, the others are very winnable, and so there is still a lot of points to play for from our point of view, so we are not looking to sit back and see the season out and instil more confidence."

Dave Thomson gave Melksham the lead midway through the first half, before two second half goals from Luke Ballinger completed the scoring

■ ST Catherine's Primary School proved the strongest of the seven schools to take part in this year's exciting relays challenge at The Sir John Colfox Academy recently.

Winning both the A and B cups, the two boy/two girl teams took first (Maisie, Freddie, Beth and Oakley) and fourth (Emily, Jonnie, Pippa and Alfie) places out of the twenty team entries.

Each team member completed a lap of the 1600m course before tagging their team mate and with so many runners out on the course, spectators were kept waiting until the very end to see who would be the first of the final leg runners to finish. Symondsbury A took second place and Broadwindsor third.

Other schools that took part were Bridport Primary School, Bridport St Mary, Parrett and Axe and Salway Ash. Pictured above are the successful St Catherine's A and B teams
